

Mental Health Stigma Survey

May 2017

Introduction

Healthwatch Bury

The Health and Social Care Act 2012 stated that Healthwatch would be established in April 2013. Healthwatch Bury is an independent company with its own Board and membership.

The aim of Healthwatch is to give adults, children and young people (both individuals and communities) a stronger voice to influence and challenge how health and social care are provided in the locality and to help people to get the best out of those services. We believe that the best way to do this is by designing local services around people's needs and experiences.

Everything we say and do is informed by our connections to local people and our expertise is grounded in their experience. We are the only body looking solely at people's experience across all health and social care services. We are uniquely placed as a network, with a local Healthwatch in every local authority area in England and clear links to Healthwatch England, the Health and Wellbeing Board and Overview and Scrutiny Committee.

As a watchdog with statutory powers, our role is to ensure that providers of local health and social care services and commissioners, put the experiences of people at the heart of their care.

Healthwatch Bury will provide the evidence base for decisions at all levels, helping to improve health and social care services. Healthwatch Bury will also facilitate the flow of information in the opposite direction, signposting patients and the public to information that will help them make choices about their care.

Healthwatch Bury guiding principles are:

- People First – We listen carefully to users of health and social care.
- Partnership – We work in partnership with other groups, seeking a stronger voice, together.
- Inclusion – We seek the views of those who are not often heard.
- Critical Friendship – We celebrate excellence; support service improvement and speak out when we have concerns.

Healthwatch Bury list of key priority areas are based on the Bury Joint Health and Wellbeing Strategy's top five priorities (2015-18):

Priority 1: Ensuring a positive start to life for children, young people and families.

Priority 2: Ensuring comprehensive advice and support is available to enable people to adopt healthy lifestyles and enjoy positive wellbeing.

Priority 3: Helping to build strong communities, wellbeing and mental health.

Priority 4: Promoting independence of people living with long term conditions and their carers.

Priority 5: Supporting the creation of healthy, sustainable environments.

Purpose of the report

As part of Mental Health Awareness Week (8th – 14th May 2017). Healthwatch Bury created a survey to assess people's views on mental health stigma and its negative consequences.

Stigma is defined as a 'strong feeling of disapproval that most people in a society have about something, especially when it is unfair'

Healthwatch Bury collected 26 responses via a link to an online survey which was sent to the Healthwatch Bury membership and shared via social media.

Paper copies of the survey were used during our engagement with the public at a Marketplace which was hosted by the council and partner organisations at Bury Market, on 10th May.

Mental Health Awareness Week is a national campaign that takes place every year and is organised by the Mental Health Foundation.

The campaign this year was 'Surviving or thriving' and it asks why so many people are living with mental health issues rather than enjoying good mental health. The campaign focuses on why so many of us struggle to cope with the demands of modern life, and in some cases just get through the day. The campaign also looked at steps we can all take to look after our mental health, build resilience and cope better with the demands of modern life.

Bury has an estimated 27,000 people experiencing a mental health condition at any given time and the council and its partners are keen to emphasise to residents that they're not alone. Local organisations are on hand to offer advice and support.

Conclusions

As well as the on line survey, Healthwatch Bury staff engaged with the public both at the Market Place and at a Health and Wellbeing Event held at the Jinnah Centre and conversations were had regarding the experiences of family or friends that have poor mental wellbeing.

The majority of people surveyed agreed that people's mental health in Bury is effected by stigma (58% agree) the people surveyed had a choice of how this was demonstrated from being denied housing or accommodation, refused employment, discriminated against in the workplace, shunned or excluded from friends or friendship groups. The majority of people surveyed found that stigma was demonstrated through being 'shunned or excluded from friends or friendship groups' (32%).

58% of the public who completed the survey selected 'no' to the question 'Are you being affected by mental health stigma', 34% yes and 8% of people selected 'Prefer not to say'. At least one person completed the survey as a carer of someone who was effected by mental health stigma.

Surprisingly only 36% stated when asked 'How would you challenge mental health stigma?' chose the 'Give support to the person' option. Only 15% said they would speak up for someone or challenge people's views. This would support the stereotyped views that many people believe that people with mental health are violent and dangerous and concerned about the risks to themselves of getting involved. The real probability is that people with mental health are more at risk of being hurt or harming themselves than harming other people.

The final question was a multi-choice question on how Bury could raise awareness of mental health stigma. Events, poster and radio campaigns were rated the highest followed by group activities, professional support and newspaper articles.

Although 3 people that completed the survey did not select their age group or selected 'Prefer not to say'. As might be expected in the over 35 year's category stigma was demonstrated through discrimination in the workplace or refused employment (40% combined). Shunned or excluded from family or friends also effect people between the ages of 35-55.

We will be seeking more detailed views on mental health over the coming year and hope to drill down further into the issues and concerns raised in this mental health stigma survey.
